NO IMPACT ON THUNDELARRA EXPECTED FROM OPES PRIME COLLAPSE

It was reported in the Western Australian press this morning that Thundelarra was one of 300 companies listed by Goldman Sachs JBWere as having shares put up for sale following the collapse of stockbroker Opes Prime.

Thundelarra wishes to report that no directors or executives of the Company have or had any margin lending arrangements with Opes Prime.

Furthermore inquiries made by the Company immediately following the Opes Prime collapse and subsequent to the newspaper article have confirmed that a very small number of Thundelarra shares were held on account with that broker. The Company believes the number to be less than 200,000, which is less than one day's turnover in recent trading.

Thundelarra therefore does not anticipate the sale of these shares, if it proceeds, adversely impacting the value of the Company's stock.
